--Throughout the school year--teacher's and parents have had mutual communication and conferences.
--Parents have been a partner in the learning process: conferences, plays, performances, academic achievement and phone calls and email communication.
--Parents/Students have been a part of the school environment throughout.
--Students are assessed often and demonstrate proficiency on class exams and school assignments.
--School portfolio's have been implemented from the child's first day of preschool.

--With school and staff consistency and implementation of quality courses, portfolios, parent/teacher ongoing communication, conference, school programs, class exams, district exams and communication-- a parent could only feel confident that their child is headed for a bright future.

DCPS school-based employee , Ward 5

I am confident that my student has what it takes to be successful in life by earning acceptance into a prestigious four-year college or university. Also, I am confident that my student will perform highly on the SAT and on AP examinations.

DCPS school-based employee , Arlington, VA

I am confident that they will be successful because they had very strong teachers at the primary grades who knew how to teach reading and math. Their academic foundation was solid. There was instruction in character development/ values clarification throughout their schooling. They were required to pass a U.S Government Test, a test on the U.S. Constitution, The Declaration of Independence and District Constitution. To be an informed citizen, one must know and understand the governing documents on the country. They have received positive reinforcement from teachers and school staff. They have learned to believe in their ability to be successful. They have no fear of new experiences.

They can articulate to any adult what their goals and dreams are, and can explain a realistic plan for how they will achieve them. They will have either been accepted into the college of their choice or enrolled in a post-secondary program that aligns with their goals and dreams not their needs and desires.

DCPS central office employee ,

Because, in this scenario, DCPS will have established itself as a school district with rigorous curriculum, real-world learning opportunities, and strong academic support, I will be confident that that child will be successful in life. She can take the tools she was provided in her schooling and apply them to future tasks and challenges, because she has been practicing using higher order thinking and critical reasoning skills since she was a young child.

DCPS school-based employee , Ward 1

They have been put first throughout their years of school. They have been given every opportunity to succeed: The state of the art teacher, mentors, and equipment, parent and community were stakeholders in every step of the way throughout their education.

Community member, DCPS school-based employee , Ward 7

--Their coursework included a strong foundation in academics that gave them strong reading, writing and analytical skills
--They were held to high expectations and succeeded
--They understand that hard work pays off
--They have a strong sense of self and an understanding of themselves in society
--They have been exposed to the realities of life--balancing a budget, saving money, etc.

DCPS school-based employee , Ward 4

They are fueled with inspiration to make their mark on the world. All kids, even kids who might now excel academically have found their calling early enough to know what steps to take next. They have had teachers that have guided them through not only academic bumps, but MORE importantly that have guided them to make decisions, to follow their passions, and have shown them over and over again the steps to getting to their goals.

DCPS parent / family member, DCPS school-based employee , Ward 3

DC offers so many unique opportunities that other cities and towns across the US could never replicate. It is here that our students can experience first hand what it takes to make our government function, where the headquarters of many nonprofit organizations are, as well as many historical national treasures. All DCPS students should feel confident that they have experienced these things to make them more aware of how they will find their path in life and use their education to make the US better.

DCPS parent / family member , Ward 2

They can write well and express their ideas -- creatively and analytically. They care about the word around them and want to be active citizens in their communities. They are excited to keep learning. They are curious and look forward to the next phases of their lives.

I've been at his side everyday since we moved to D.C.

I can count on one hand how many days I did not drop him off or pick him up from school. I've taught him, coached him, guided him, every single day. He is being raised for success. Your school curriculum is weak. It teaches to the lowest common denominator in the class. We can not afford private school so we are in public. We boost about it. "Public and Proud" we like to say but you are not preparing my son. You are giving him the tools to prepare himself. We use Study Island, IXL, and Khan Academy, computer programs to help him stay on pace with private school. He uses Rosetta Stone to learn Spanish. We have a YMCA membership and we do not own a car so that he can swim on The Curl Burke Swim Club. Strong minds require strong bodies. Harry swims three days a week after school and one day on the weekends. We pay to play Stodert Soccer. Practice on Wed. game every Sat. It's no wonder kids are over weight and so fat that by the time they get to a school with a real track they can't run around it. Physical fitness needs to start young.
